BIOSPHERE POLITICS
A New Consciousness for a New Century

JEREMY RIFKIN

Crown Publishers, Inc.
New York
CONTENTS

Introduction 1

Part One: Enclosing the Global Commons

1. Securing the World 11
2. What Doth It Profit a Man . . . ? 17
3. The Harlot and the Machine 27
4. A Private Nature 38
5. Cows Devour People 49
6. Gathering Up the Waves 53
7. Riding on Thin Air 58
8. The Electronic Pulse of the Planet 62
9. A Price Tag on Genes 65
10. Environmental Shrapnel 71
11. Icarus and the Great Cataclysm 81
Part Two: Geopolitics and the Death of Nature

12. The Corporate State 95
13. Gunpowder and Global Reach 101
14. Armed to the Teeth 107
15. Everyone’s a Soldier 114
16. The Politics of Geography 119
17. Geopolitical Games 127
18. Enclosure in a Nuclear Age 134
19. Gene Wars 145

Part Three: The Culture of Privacy

20. Personal Security and the Privatization of Life 153
21. Kids, Mirrors, and Lawns 162
22. Store-Bought and Machine-Made 167
23. Homo Consumptor 173
24. Descartes on Wheels 177

Part Four: Securing the Body Politic

25. The Flight from the Animal Shadow 187
26. Morals, Manners, and Menus 194
27. Exorcising the Beast 200
28. Disconnecting the Senses 206
29. Odoriferous Terrors 209
30. A Touchless Society 218
31. Oral and Visual Cultures 228
32. The Age of Simulation 236

Part Five: The Coming of the Biospheric Age
33. Mechanistic Versus Therapeutic Consciousness 251
34. Geosphere to Biosphere 258
35. Planetary Rhythms 264
36. Reclaiming the Ground of Being 274
37. Accounting for the Earth 282
38. Biosphere Politics 286
39. Multinational Machinations 293
40. Disarming the Earth 299
41. Opening Up the Global Commons 309
42. The Third Stage of Human Consciousness 319

Notes 327
Bibliography 361
Index 377